- I. These Guidelines, known as “Guidelines of the National Taichung University of Education to Grant Scholarships to International Students” (hereinafter referred to as the “Guidelines”) are duly enacted by National Taichung University of Education (hereinafter referred to as “NTCU”) to boost exchange with the international community, solicit outstanding international students to be admitted to NTCU and provide incentives to current students remarkable in both academic studies and conduct.
- II. The funds required under the Guidelines shall come from NTCU’s School Affair Fund.
- III. Eligible applicants for the Scholarships:

Newly admitted and currently enrolled international students who entered the University through its international student admission channel (excluding students on extended study, overseas Chinese students, Hong Kong and Macao students, mainland Chinese students, and exchange students).

Applicants under the preceding paragraph may not concurrently receive any scholarships provided by the Government of the Republic of China or any other scholarships established by the University under its separate enhanced recruitment regulations.
- IV. Scholarship Application Time and procedures:
 - A. International freshman students: Fill out the Scholarship Application Form while applying for admission to NTCU. The application documents for admission and Scholarship will be reviewed at the same time.
 - B. Officially accredited international students currently studying at NTCU: Submit the application to the Office of International and Cross-Strait Affairs/ Research and Development by January 31 and August 31 every year.

V. Review:

- A. International freshman students: Scholarship application form and documents required for application for NTCU admission.
- B. Officially accredited international students currently studying at NTCU: Scholarship application form and the academic transcripts of NTCU in the preceding semester and a photocopy of the current term student identity certificate.
- C. The International Students Scholarships/Fellowships Review Panel organized by the office of International and Cross-Strait Affairs / Research and Development shall assume the responsibility to review and grant the Scholarship, by selecting the qualified applicants based on their average scores, ranks in the classes and extraordinary performances.

VI. Contents of the Scholarship:

- A. International freshman students (beginning from either the Spring Semester or the Fall Semester, excluding transfer students): Tuition and miscellaneous fees waived in the first year (two semesters).
- B. Officially accredited international students currently studying at NTCU:
 - 1. The number of awardees who study for the bachelor program is 32; 14 awardees for master's program; 4 awardees for the doctor's program.
 - 2. International students receiving the scholarship must have achieved a conduct grade of 80 or above in the preceding semester.
 - 3. The standard is based on every applicant's academic grades. If there are excessive amounts of the same score or other special circumstances, the International Students Scholarships/Fellowships Review Panel will make a conclusion after discussion.
 - 4. Average academic score of 80 or above in the preceding academic year in case of international students in the bachelor program (four awardees); Average academic score of 90 or above in the preceding academic year in case of international students in the master's program (two awardees); Average academic score of 90 or above in the preceding academic year in case of international students in the doctoral program (one awardee). Each awardee is granted a Scholarship amounting to NT$6,000 per month and is exempted from lodging fares throughout the schooling period (excluding summer, winter vacations).
 - 5. International students ranked 5th to 12th in the bachelor's program (with an average academic score of 75 or above), 3rd to 6th in the master's program (with an average academic score of 85 or above), and 2nd in the doctoral program (with an average academic score of 85 or above) at the time of scholarship approval are eligible for the award. Each awardee will receive a scholarship of NT$4,000 per month for the relevant academic year, and will be exempt from accommodation fees during the semester period (excluding summer and winter vacations).

6. Average academic score of 70 or above in the preceding academic year in case of international students in the bachelor program (twenty awardees); Average academic score of 80 or above in the preceding academic year in case of international students in the master's program (eight awardees); Average academic score of 80 or above in the preceding academic year in case of international students in the doctoral program (two awardees). Each awardee is granted a Scholarship amounting to NT$2,000 per month and is halved for lodging fares throughout the schooling period (excluding summer, winter vacations).

- C. The Scholarship may be granted a maximum of four years for international students in the bachelor program, two years for international students in the master's program and three years for international students in the doctoral program.

VII. International students who receive this scholarship from the second academic year onward are required to assist with relevant work assigned by their department or administrative units for 64 hours per semester, and such service shall be taken into consideration when applying for the scholarship in the following semester.

VIII. The Scholarship is granted on a monthly basis during the periods where the awardees are studying with NTCU; from August till January for international students in the autumn semester, from February till July for international students in the spring semester. The graduating students may lodge in the NTCU student dorms based on the semesters, till June 30 and January 31 respectively.

IX. NTCU grants applicants recommended by partner institutions according to dual and specific MOU.

X. These Guidelines and amendments hereof shall come into enforcement after being officially resolved by the Administrative Council of NTCU.

These Guidelines were officially resolved in the 4th Administrative Meeting of Academic Year 2025 (December 9, 2025), officially approved by the NTCU President on December 15, 2025 and promulgated on December 23, 2025.
